PROPERTY TAX MUST BE PAID TO SECURE 1934 LICENSE PLATES

County Assessor Must Sign Back Of Certificate Of Registration

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Sept. 21—Beginning March 5, next year, millions of hitherto hidden dollars will begin to flow into the coffers of the county and city treasuries of California, paid by more than two million automobile owners as part of their personal property taxes.

Addressing the annual convention of California assessors here today Russell Bevans, Registrar of the Division of Registration of the Department of Motor Vehicles, stated that clearance by county and city assessors will be required before any automobile or other vehicle can be registered in California.

The department of motor vehicles cannot, under the new law, register any vehicle in this state unless the certificate of registration, or white slip, shall show on the reverse side that the person so presenting application for renewal of registration or transfer of registration, has paid his personal property taxes to the assessor of the county, city and county or municipality in which such vehicle was subject to assessment for the fiscal year.

The white slip will indicate on its face the county in which all persons registering vehicles reside.

"The Department of Motor Vehicles is prepared and well able to cope with and take care of this matter immediately following the effective date of this bill, March 5th, 1934, which is the first Monday of March, as prescribed in Section 8 of Senate Bill No. 178," Bevans announced.

"The renewal period of 1934, that is from January 1st to February 15, of course, will not be affected by this law.

"However, after March 5th, it becomes necessary for the Department to decline registration unless persons so presenting their certificates can show on the reverse side thereof the stamp of the assessor authorized by law to be levied against such vehicle in the county, city or municipality."

Registrar Bevans urges that each assessor identify on his records each vehicle assessed by motor number and make.

"This is important for the reason that many thousands owners lose or misplace the certificate of registration and endeavor to obtain re-registration by filing application and paying the statutory fee of 50 cents for a duplicate certificate," Bevans said.

"This duplicate certificate will, of course, not bear any endorsed tax clearance and it will then be necessary that the applicant call upon the assessor for endorsement of such duplicate.

"Without definite description of the vehicle on the assessor's records he will not be in a position to know whether or not the vehicle described on the duplicate certificate is the identical vehicle previously declared to him for assessment.

SUMMER EXCURSION TRAVEL BACK EAST EXTENDED BY S. P.

Extension of sales dates and return limits on all classes of round-trip summer excursion tickets from Pacific Coast points to middle western and eastern destinations has been announced by the Southern Pacific Company.

Intended primarily to accommodate autumn travel to the Chicago Fair, the revised schedule will permit use of the low fares for the additional period October 15 to October 31, it was made known by Felix S. McGinnis, vice president in charge of system passenger traffic. The final return limit of season tickets, he said, will be November 15 instead of October 31.

The greatly reduced round-trip fares, established at the start of the summer tourist season, will remain in effect for the extended excursion period, it was stated.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

NRA EMPLOYMENT BUREAUS WILL BE ESTABLISHED

Preference Will Be Given To Californians And Heads Of Families

The following letter has been received by the County Chairman and in order that it may be thoroughly understood, it is being published in full.

To C. E. Clinch,
County Supervisor, NRA,
Grass Valley, Calif.

Dear Mr. Clinch:
The agreement cited below is sent to you for your information and guidance. I think it very important indeed that the communities in your County be induced to set up an Unemployment Registration Bureau, with the purpose to see that employers give preference to Californians and to heads of families.

Sincerely,
GEORGE CREEL, Chairman
District Recovery Board National Recovery Administration.

The copy of the ordinance follows:

"The San Francisco Unemployment Registration Bureau, a city agency designed to register the names of all bona fide unemployed San Francisco residents, is doing a necessary and valuable work. I am recommending to NRA leaders that they have similar bureaus established in every California community.

"I am forwarding copies of the legislation creating San Francisco's Bureau to all county chairmen urging them to bring the matter immediately before all Boards of Supervisors and City Councils.

"As we begin active work on the various projects receiving NRA fund aid, these various Bureaus can cooperate helpfully with the Federal Re-employment service.

"Employers will be asked to give preference in hiring new help, to capable heads of families who are bona fide residents of their particular communities.

"I wish to point out that the fact that a man or woman is registered with one of these Bureaus by no means necessarily indicates he or she is on relief."

To the Employers of Labor in Nevada County:

In compliance with the above request, I have recommended for appointment W. W. Esterly of Grass Valley, Office, Chamber of Commerce.

John W. O'Neill of Nevada City Branch Office Morning Union.

C. E. CLINCH,
County Supervisor, NRA

BUREAU OF FISHERIES PLANTS MARKED TROUT IN THE TRUCKEE RIVER

Under the supervision of A. C. Taft of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, a shipment of 41,000 Rainbow trout, marked by the removal of both belly fins, were planted in the Truckee River on Tuesday.

These fish have been planted earlier and given a different mark from the first thousand planted last year in order to gather information as to the best time of the year and methods of planting.

The fish marked last year were planted about a month later and were slightly larger than those planted this year.

The eggs for these fish came from Idaho as did those which were planted last year.

The average length of the fry planted this year was two inches as compared to two and three quarters for last year.

So everyone should reserve this date of Saturday night, October 7th, and plan to attend and join in the fun the Lions Club is planning. They have also promised good music and the dance will be held in the Masonic Hall.

Forest Service Responds To Two Forest Fires

The Forest Service at Truckee was called out twice on Tuesday to extinguish fires. One fire at Boca was caused by a sheep herder letting his camp fire get out of control. Seven acres were burned over before the fire was controlled.

THREE ARE FINED FOR CUTTING TRAILS IN NATIONAL PARK

RED BLUFF, Cal., Sept. 28—(UP)—The longest way round really is the cheapest, in the opinion of three Oroville residents.

Robert Huges, Charlotte Ridling and Leona McMullen paid fines of $250 each before the United States commissioner for taking a shortcut through Lassen Volcanic National park.

The three were cited by Forest Ranger Russell Farmer on charges of violating the statute prohibiting the cutting of trails in a national park.

The regular meeting of the Directors of the Chamber of Commerce was devoted to a full discussion of winter sports for the coming season.

It was decided, in view of the success of the ice skating pond last year, that more attention would be given to this sport in the program for the season. The surface of the large 20,000 square foot pond will be treated so that it will hold water this year. It was a source of a great deal of trouble and expense last year that it did not hold water. The practice of permitting ski club members to use the pond free of charge was voted to be discontinued.

To add to the comfort of the spectators at the ice pond, a large pavilion overlooking the pond will be built with lumber salvaged from the dance platform used on Frontier Days.

Several dozen new boot skates will be bought this year to replace the old time clamp skates.

It was decided that the pullup chute of the toboggan should be raised and extended the full length of the hill. This would prevent the trouble experienced in the past when toboggans became unhooked due to the level pull near the bottom of the hill.

The directors favored the issuance of the weekly "Sierra Snow Sports" publication that proved such a success last year and the Sierra Sun, under whose auspices it was published, is to be asked to again issue it.

It was reported at the meeting that more interest is being manifested at this time in winter sports than at any like period in the past.

The Southern Pacific Company has announced that it will again put out its Winter Sports Folder and has already asked for a lineup on Truckee's activities for the season.

A careful check of the requirements to carry out the program for this season showed that it would be necessary to raise at least $1,000. A finance committee was appointed to take the matter up with the merchants. Inasmuch as over half this sum would go into labor that would again place the money in circulation, it was felt that it would not be such a hardship on the business interests.

The directors expressed the hope that every business man would respond heartily so that the work could be started at once.

The verdict finding David Lamson guilty of first degree murder undoubtedly was surprising to the public generally, in the opinion of many California editors.

Not that the surprise was occasioned by widespread belief in the defendant's innocence, but rather that such a verdict in a case based on circumstantial evidence alone seemed improbable.

"The conviction was wholly upon circumstantial evidence," said the Santa Ana Register. "Sometimes circumstantial evidence is almost as reliable as direct evidence, though in this case there were a number of matters in which assumptions had to be made that were extremely questionable. Usually there is a great deal more danger of the guilty going free than of the innocent being convicted, and it is hardly for those of us, who were not present at the trial, to question the verdict of people who could note every detail and the constant demeanor of the one accused."

"The verdict was a great surprise to those who are acquainted with the attitude of juries," comments the Sacramento Union, adding:

"It is difficult to convict any man with many friends, it is more difficult when the conviction depends purely on circumstance and it is more difficult yet, when such a conviction will hurt the reputation of an eminently respectable community or institution."

"Lamson is either guilty of a fiendish slaying reserving the maximum penalty, which should be speedily inflicted, or he is innocent and should be released," remarks the Madera Daily Tribune. "His case is one of those in which there can be no half way punishment inflicted. Admitting the charge of anti-capital punishment ranks that executions are but legalized murder, and granting that the execution of one individual does not return the life of his victim, yet the sooner the death penalty becomes a certainty in this nation, when there are 'bigger and better' executions, just as soon will there be less need for such executions."

As to the advisability of convicting on circumstantial evidence, the Marysville Appeal-Democrat believes "if such convictions are to occur at all the chain of events that started Lamson toward the gallows is very strong. And if circumstantial evidence is never to be accepted as a basis of conviction, an increasingly large number of killers would escape punishment, for in a comparatively large proportion of murders nothing but circumstantial evidence exists."

The Pittsburg Post-Dispatch inquires whether juries are becoming more hard-boiled in their attitudes toward persons suspected of crime, stating: "Judged by the standards of recent years, the decision of a jury to hang David Lamson for the murder of his wife was harsh. He was convicted on circumstantial evidence. With few exceptions the juries which have been trying murderers for many years perhaps would have acquitted Lamson or else voted for life imprisonment, which means about seven years in California."

"There seems to be a tendency in this country in recent months," said the San Diego Union, "to give the defendant with trials and get the verdicts. We should encourage judges, peace officers and the public to keep up the good work of defendants or the public to help."

THE CULT OF UGLINESS

Writing in the Chicago News, a critic gives another reason for going to the movies. A visitor will get a bellyful of modernism.

Now a little modernism, a little ugliness, is all right. If it's really good, nature and the experience of life are more than a little. But an overdose is something else again. Not everybody likes to have things crammed down his throat, under compulsion to admire them just because they're novel.

"The designers of these buildings have shown the limits of conscious originality," he says. "Some of their tricks may stay; but when the tide has gone back, the old-fashioned arm chair will be respectable again, and the furniture of trapezoids and aluminum will be on the beach with no takers."

"If you share these doubts about progress in architecture, pay a visit to the Rosenwald museum and refresh your soul in the tranquil grace of its setting. Yes, it's short on originality. It really hasn't much but proportion. But it shows how much the Greeks still have to teach us. It makes one hope that the cult of ugliness, which has dominated every art for a decade or more, may soon be appreciated for what it is—a form of paranoia."

One of the measurements of a German giantess is 3.5 feet from her ankle to her knee. Obviously she has long-distance runners in her stockings.—Arkansas Gazette.

"Why is old Wombat hustling around so strenuously? I thought he had retired from business with enough in the bank to live on the rest of his life."

"He thought so too—but his bankers said there wasn't enough for both them and him to live on and so he'd have to go to work."

Then come to Iona, and enjoy its glittering array of jewels—all free for the seeing. As one of its inhabitants said of the wild flowers: "They are there for the picking."

Come and empty your town-filled thought of its red-hot streets and crowds, its penetrating smells of petrol; store up instead the cool emerald green of water over sand, the purple amethyst of blue-green over rocks, and the pure sapphire of the deep, under the wide sky. At sunset watch the red, sparkling highway as it stretches from the shore to the dim Outer Hebrides, with its crowds of feathered creatures who need no petrol to sustain their rapid swoops or gentle glides across this sunlit path.

Forget the hot pavements, as your bare feet cool themselves in rainbow hues where the sunwashed waters ripple over sands of purest white. Turn and see the evening light transform the pink rocks into corals, the curling waves into opals. Gaze upon that line of distant isles, now lying ruby red beneath the setting sun. In silence watch how heaven tosses these jewels, one after the other, across the sky and sea, red to golden, orange to

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Relief Suggestions for Periodic Sick Headache, or Migraine

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

MIGRAINE is one of our most distressing and incapacitating forms of headache. It is odd because it is very likely to come at stated intervals without apparent cause, run its course and leave the patient weak, but feeling good. Some women get it every five, six, or ten days or once a month. It is more common in women than in men. Usually it starts early in a woman's life, at ten to fifteen years of age, and continues through the change of life period, when it may give way to some other form of distress.

THE tendency seems to be hereditary, at least most patients report that one or both their parents suffered with headaches. An attack may come on slowly with lassitude, depression and a sense of chilliness. It may start suddenly with pain over the eye or back of the head, which spreads all over the side of the head and sometimes over both sides.

THERE are often spots before the eyes, dimness of sight, flashes of light or other ocular disturbances. The pain is tense, throbbing and blinding, and increased by jars, light and noises. Prostration is temporary but extreme. The face may be pale and pinched, with a difference in the two sides. There is sometimes loss of memory and mental confusion. When the pain has reached its climax, sick stomach and nausea occur. For this reason, it is often called bilious or sick headache.

MUCH can be done to overcome it by trying to find the irritating cause. It may be most anything, eye strain, obstruction of the nose by polyps or spurs, enlarged tonsils or adenoids. The patient should avoid articles of food that may irritate. She should avoid constipation and overloading of the stomach, take plenty of exercise and do all she can to keep herself in good physical condition.

REGULATING the diet and preventing eye strain and nervous excitement often helps ward off attacks. We know almost nothing about the cause of migraine, but it has several points in common with hay fever, asthma, hives and the like, so we believe it belongs to the group that are sensitive to certain toxins. Migraine and epilepsy are apparently transmitted from one generation to another and a patient with migraine is more likely to have epileptic children than normal individuals.

BEAUTY ALONE INSUFFICIENT TO MAKE A GIRL POPULAR

By JACQUELINE HUNT

POPULARITY was something that one could acquire as easily as a new dress, then the first year in college would be a happier one for most girls. You enter college expecting such things, how to bring out knowing these things about. Your lack of confidence in yourself is the chief obstacle to your popularity.

Make a critical analysis of your figure, your clothes, your haircut and your features. See how they can be improved and set about doing it. When you know that you look your best you are gay and poised and self-confident. You can forget all about your appearance now, but there are other things that are essential to popularity.

How about your manners? Do you know how to do and say the right thing at the right time? Are you tactful and gracious and charming in little things? It takes almost no effort and it will make others like you. Practice on your best chum or on the members of your family, and then when you go out it will be ever so easy to be polite and charming and perfectly poised.

Capitol News Letter

By MELVIN LORD

(United Press Staff Correspondent) SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 28—(UP)—While opposing factions still wrangled over the sales tax, the state board of equalization decided on a token to aid in the collection of the tax on small purchases.

The token will be of aluminum and probably octagonal in shape. The big problem was to find something that couldn't be used in slot machines or telephones. It will be between the size of a nickel and a quarter.

Merchants will issue the tokens under state supervision, it was announced.

The day of cut-throat competition among public works contractors is over, according to Earl Lee Kelly, state director of public works. As a result of strict enforcement of federal and state labor requirements contractors have increased their bids to cover a fair profit and provide adequate wages for workmen. On approximately $3,500,000 worth of highway work, bids opened recently were only $166 under the conservative estimates of highway engineers.

In the interest of California's social and economic structure, Governor Rolph urged in a special proclamation that mortgage holders refrain from foreclosures until May 1, 1934 in cases where interest and taxes are paid. The proclamation emphasized the fact that foreclosures would "hinder stabilization plans and lower assessed valuations."

With fall returns from the gross receipts tax on public utilities increasing funds in the state treasury, the state general fund has repaid approximately half of the $7,000,000 borrowed recently from the highway and other special funds of the state. The general fund, however, still owes $3,400,000 to special funds from which temporary transfers were made in lean months when no tax money was coming into the general treasury.

Don't invest your money to build and equip saloons and other public drinking places in anticipation of repeal of the 18th amendment.

This is the warning of the state board of equalization in calling attention to the fact that the state liquor control law specifically prohibits such establishments in the state. Members of the board said they had received reports that many individuals and corporations were preparing to equip saloons in the mistaken belief that such places will be legalized with repeal of the national dry law.

TAHOE REGION NEWS

By "SWANEE"

Of primary general interest this week to Tahoe readers is the account of a trip to Mt. Lassen in which a large number of local residents participated.

On Friday at 12:15 a crowd of 40, including school children and elders, left the Tahoe Grammar School grounds in large trucks, graciously and generously loaned for the occasion by Bob Watson and Carl Bechdolt, on the first leg of a joyous three day vacation jaunt which carried them over 400 miles and thru all manner of weather.

Going by way of Reno to Susanville, the first night was spent about seven miles beyond that little town. Camp was pitched and a huge bonfire built, around which, after supper, a jolly evening was passed in singing and story telling. Mr. Wm. Wathen was particularly entertaining with his thrilling tales of the great world war, in which he took an active part.

At 8 the next morning the party moved on to Chester, where, at a store in town, the children viewed the two curious mounted bucks, who died at a nearby lake, after a fierce struggle during which their horns became steadfastly locked. Leaving Chester they followed the loop highway for some distance, their next stop being Bumpas Hill. Here they set out afoot to view that interesting territory below Mt. Lassen, which is a hike of about 1.3 miles. The ground was not beneath their feet, huge crevices, with their interminable black depths yawning-jetting streams of torrid steam; tiny boiling hot rivulets and pools were scattered about with steam and vapor rising incessantly; the stench of mineral and sulphur assailing their nostrils on all sides. Although the latest activity of Lassen was noted in 1917, the last large eruption occurred on May 22nd, 1915. Who knows when these seething grumbling, smoldering underground gods may again choose to loose their path in diabolical upheaval?

Photographs were taken of the most interesting sights by Lou Ehret, the official photographer for the party, before returning to the trucks.

The next object of exploration was the Lassen Museum which offered a wide variety of entertaining study. Among the exhibits were rare specimens of mineral deposits, ancient Indian relics, wild birds and animals mounted in the manner of their native habitat, all of which were found within Lassen and adjacent counties. The animals included mountain sheep, bear, deer, coyote, mountain lion and the smaller animals, with a varied collection of bird life also well represented. Souvenirs were purchased at a nearby art store to commemorate the interesting excursion.

It was here the party became acquainted with Ranger Naturalist Farmer, who directed them to a beautiful spot within the National Park grounds near Summit Lake, where camp was made for the second night, which included the customary large bonfire for the evening's gathering.

An unusual sight was the number of small fires, eight in all, whose lights danced and flashed fantastically among the trees, and around which small groups, chatting gaily, prepared their meals, each fire being carefully extinguished after supper.

Mrs. Wm. Crone of the Squirrel House at Tahoe City was responsible for the 12 pounds of delicious mixed home-made candies enjoyed during the night's entertainment. The school club having supplied the sugar, Ranger Farmer gave a most engaging synopsis of the history and Indian lore of Lassen, his speech being highly acclaimed by his circle of attentive listeners. Other speakers followed, with songs and recitals occupying the remainder of the evening.

Up to this time beautiful, warm weather had prevailed with sunny skies, their first night out crisp and clear. But shortly after retiring time Saturday night the wind rose, increasing to terrific velocity before morning. At 5 o'clock the sleepers awoke to find the skies dark and overcast, with rain descending in a steady drizzle, hastening their departure and making impracticable the anticipated trip they had planned for the day to the crater of Lassen. Captain Henry Rose and his son Holly were the only ones to make the ascent and after their long and arduous struggle up rocky paths that wound in tortuous monkey for a distance of 2½ miles, they found on reaching the top they could see little or nothing of the crater itself, or of the beautiful scenes of grandeur (visible on a clear day from Lassen's summit) because of the dense bank of fog and clouds which had settled over the mountain, as if to deliberately guard its aged secrets from man's undue inquisitiveness. An hour and 15 minutes was consumed in the trip up, the descent being made in 45 minutes.

Large canvasses, brought along for just such an emergency, were spread over the high side racks of the trucks, and the party in snug security, continued on its way. Near the summit snow was falling, the ground being covered with a white blanket about 2 inches deep. Crossing to the other side of the summit the storm became more intense, assuming the proportions of a veritable blizzard, which gradually subsided as the miles flew by. About three miles from Chester the party turned off, taking a road which leads to Lake Almador and thru the Indian Valley (where Mrs. Gallenger, Tahoe school teacher, taught school some eight years ago). The highway also traversed for a considerable distance, the Feather River Canyon, all of this portion of the country offering the motorist mile after mile of exquisite scenic beauty. Thru Crescent Mills they continued on to Quincy where a stop was made for hot dinner at the restaurant. Thence to Reno thru Chilcoot and the Beckworth Pass the road, like a slim white ribbon, leading for miles thru flat desert land; long stretches of sand and sage which gleamed romantically in the soft yellow moonlight, melting away in the distance into low undulating hills, dimly visible.

It was a tired but happy crowd who arrived back at Tahoe about 10:00 P. M. Sunday night, each vowing they would not have missed the trip for anything. Mrs. Gallenger is to be highly lauded for her marvelous ingenuity in planning the excursion and her tactful and dexterous supervision of it. Hearty thanks is extended all who assisted in making the trip such a complete success. Aside from the physical, educational and recreational advantages of the outing, other benefits derived from these supervised vacations are incalculable, for it is needless to say the impressions of these youngsters, written indelibly upon the pages of their memories for life, will prove a gratifying reminiscence thru future years.

Truck drivers were Gordon and Martin Spitzner, Robert Cowell and Mr. Wathen. The party included, besides the school children, the following chaperones: Mrs. N. R. Mayfield, Mrs. Joe Howrigan, Mrs. Fred Cowell, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wathen, Sarah Crone, Louis Ehret, Mrs. A. M. Henry, Mrs. Phil Gallenger, Mrs. A. M. Anderson, Mrs. Hendrikson, Bob Southern, Dorothy Hay and Captain and Mrs. Henry Rose and son Holly who accompanied the party in their own machine.

The Lake Tahoe-Sierra Association Invitational Golf Tournament proved such a success that Mr. Droste announces there will be a tournament each Sunday from now on the Tavern golf links as long as the weather will permit. About twenty-five contestants attended the affair last Sunday, despite the dampness during the morning. Gene Rogers of Tahoe won first honors with low gross score of 81. Carl Bechdolt bought the successful winner of the Calcutta Pool, who was Ted Mullins of Glenbrook. Three players tied for third place, Gaiennie, Droste and Crist, with Mr. Crist winning in the play off, altho Droste really held the second low net score. So here's hoping the boys may yet get in some good golf practice before Old Man Winter closes the links.

NORDEN NEWS

By C. W. KRAMER

"Art" Lyons and "Buck" Forsythe of Sacramento, Towerman of the Southern Pacific Company, spent the opening day of deer season at Norden, but were unsuccessful in their quest for deer.

Venison feeds have been the chief diversion among Norden families all this week when Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tankersley were the invited guests of the Arthur Wortell home on Railroad Avenue, while Andrew Pfeiffer and Calvin Kramer were enjoying the hospitality of the Clarence N. Libby home on Lincoln Court and at the Edward Pelham home on Norden Drive were Eric Gram and August Olson doing their appetites justice.

Kenneth Lyons wrote his parents this week that he is thoroughly enjoying his vacation with his Uncle near Likely, Modoc County, where he supposedly went for a deer hunt but found more enjoyment in rustling cattle on his uncle's ranch and further advised that he will be ready to lasso the knowledge as contained within the subjects as will be given at the Truckee High next week where he will resume his studies.

Joe V. Costa and wife of Sacramento, where Costa is the leading tonorial artist of the Market Spot at 28th and Y Street, were week end guests of the Joseph Piechett home on Norden Terrace.

J. C. Lyon of Norden Grocery was called suddenly to Sacramento on business.

Mrs. Charles P. Stephens has returned to Elk Grove to make her home for the winter after spending the summer with her husband at Norden, where he is employed.

Mrs. Consuelo Valediez of Norden was a recent visitor among friends and relatives at Reno.

Mrs. Estella Fletcher of Norden is now visiting at Sacramento indefinitely.

A deer hunting story that reads like fiction was enacted last Sunday by Thomas O. Brown, crane engineer for the Southern Pacific Company of Norden, accompanied by his two sons who left their home Sunday morning at 5 A. M., motored to a point a mile and a half east of Boca, where one of the sons alighted from the car and glancing up the ridge espied a buck about 200 yards distant and notified his father who was in the act of loading the rifle. The deer stood at attention until the elder Brown was about ready to fire then proceeded to run, but Brown bagged the four point buck before he disappeared in the brush. They loaded this fine specimen in their machine and were home at Norden by 3 A. M., well satisfied with their day's outing and reward. The buck was fat and friends of Norden are now enjoying venison feeds.

Elmer Eversult and Clarence Libby of Norden were successful hunters a week ago Sunday when they bagged a three point buck on the ridge above Donner Lake near the west end of the Lake. They were only four hours on the trip.

T. E. Eversult Sr., accompanied by his son Albert of Sacramento were week end visitors with his son, T. E. Eversult and his wife of Norden. They came up for a deer hunt but returned to their homes without having had any success.

Elon Bancroft, a Sacramento banker, accompanied by his wife and Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Dorian, also a Sacramento banker, spent a week ago Sunday on a fishing trip at Lake Flora near Norden.

The frightful tragedy that stalked the W. E. Goodwater home of Rocklin last Friday when his step father brutally murdered his wife and the two Goodwater children, Ella, age 13 and Mary, age 10, who were visiting their grandmother at the time near Fresno. Goodwater is well known here as he was employed in a bridge and building gang that was located at Norden for several months. Goodwater's wife is reported as residing in Motley, Minnesota, and are reported as being estranged. E. J. Sweetzer, the reported murderer is cited as being a religious fanatic, and this is assumed by authorities to have had bearing on the case. Other motives are vague.

Miss Pearl Strong, who has been visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Frink of Norden, has gone to visit relatives at Bowmon for several days.

J. F. Spurgeon, who has been relief fireman of Norden Fire Train for the past fortnight since Fireman C. E. Church bid in another run was relieved by fireman "Art" Lewis of Roseville on Saturday night, who was the successful applicant according to seniority choice. He will make his home in the "Woolworth" Building.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gunn of Roseville were visitors at the A. Proteau home at Norden for several days.

H. G. Boomer, accompanied by his wife and two children Alice and Bobby, were recent visitors at the H. Haldorsen home at Truckee.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Libby, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Eversult of Norden, motored to Truckee last Thursday evening to visit with the John Kinsey family.

Joe Walters and William Seitz made a hurried motor trip to Sacramento Sunday on important business.

Robert Jensen and Shorty Jensen of B&B 113, Cisco, were week end visitors at their respective homes in Sacramento and Roseville over Sunday.

George G. Winslow of B&B 115 Norden, spent the week end at Sacramento on business.

H. G. Boomer, Halford Hackley George Winslow, Lionel Snelling and C. W. Kramer spent last Thursday evening at Truckee.

Mrs. J. Talley of Sacramento arrived at Norden after several days in the capital city on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Ong Fay of Norden Eating Car were hosts to several outfit cooks last week when they prepared a tasty dinner that appeased the most exacting appetites of the culinary artists. The dinner consisted of a special Chinese dish which all thoroughly enjoyed. Those in attendance included Lock Yow of B&B 115, Jim Leong of B&B 108, Wong Yee of B&B 109, Louie Foo of Extra Gang No. 2 and Ong Hay of Norden Eating Car.

Mrs. A. M. Beall of Norden is visiting friends and relatives at Sacramento and Mills for several days.

Andrew Pfeiffer of Norden has been away from his usual post for several days while he is accompanying the bridge inspectors over the district.

Frank Luehly, E. R. Moltz, Edward Orfutt, Harrison Call, John Poll, C. W. Kramer, Claude Britton Raymond Peterson, Charles Foster and Henry Bastain spent Sunday at their respective homes in Sacramento.

Joseph Northey, Arthur Swain, M. D. Taylor and August Olson spent Sunday at their respective homes in Roseville.

ACME BEER COMPANY GIVES NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING CREDIT

"Budgets have been approved for a campaign of vastly increased newspaper advertising," today stated Samuel A. Clarke, President of the Cereal Products Refining Company whose subsidiary corporation, the California Brewing Association brews Acme. Clarke is today leaving on a month's Eastern trip.

"The present leadership of Acme Beer can be directly traceable to the continuous newspaper advertising campaign which the Company has utilized even before the sale of beer was legally possible. Our campaign was the first one in the United States to advertise beer and our newspaper appropriation has been increased every month since then and today, as always, represents the bulk of our advertising expenditure.

Rolph's Candidacy for Re-election Doubtful Due To Recent Illness

By THOMAS B. MALARKEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 28—(UP)—Governor Rolph's serious illness—a sickness that almost claimed his life—has given rise to a double-edged question throughout the state.

Will the governor run for re-election; and, if not, who will be the administration candidate?

The governor undoubtedly wants to run again. But whether he will, depends largely upon the rapidity of his recovery.

Twice during the past six months sickness had laid Rolph low. First time was a month's illness last February. If he hasn't recovered by campaign time, the governor's political advisers will urge him to abandon reelection plans and throw his support behind some strong member of the administration, according to reliable reports.

This man is said to be none other than Earl Lee Kelly, director of the department of public works.

Kelly is in preferred position for carrying the administration's stand during the gubernatorial campaign. He is the cornerstone of the greatest reemployment drive in the state's history—a highway construction program involving contract lettings at million-dollar-a-week pace until January 1. He has announced the objective of his department is creation of 50,000 new jobs by Christmas.

It is apparent Kelly is an ideal spot for a candidacy build-up. He would be, reports say, the logical man to fill Rolph's shoes if "Sunny Jim's" poor health prevents him from running for reelection.

The feeling is general that the governor would have to effect a complete recovery and be his robust self again, to weather such a campaign as he would face in 1934. Campaign of 1930, according to present indications, will be child's play by comparison.

What statewide branch banking means to Californians

1. It provides the same type of metropolitan banking facilities for the smallest communities of the state as it does for the largest.
2. Funds from a great reservoir of capital are quickly diverted to any section of California that requires special seasonal financing.
3. Stability of statewide industry and agriculture is enhanced by this quick movement of needed capital.
4. By keeping its resources in 243 cities instead of having to confine them to any one section, exceptional protection is afforded depositors. It is obvious that economic set-backs in any single locality could have but little effect upon the entire state.
5. Therefore, your money deposited with Bank of America is protected by assets based on the diversified industries of one of the world's richest empires—California.
6. Your money in a Bank of America savings or commercial account is actually helping to finance, not just a single community, but the vital industries of all California—agriculture, horticulture, lumber, livestock, manufacturing, oil, fisheries, shipping, wholesale and retail business, and home building.

Gas Tax Brings U. S. More Than Beer Tax

Uncle Sam is getting more income from the federal tax on gasoline than he is getting from the tax on beer. Receipts of the federal government from gasoline tax collections were $1,000,000 greater in one month July, than the amount received during the same period from the federal tax on the legalized 3.2 beverage.

This is revealed by an analysis of federal tax income for July in a report received by the California State Automobile Association. The report also demonstrates that motor vehicle owners paid twenty per cent of all tax revenues collected by the federal government in that month.

Out of a total July federal tax income of $131,115,697, the contributions of motorists represented $26,570,790. Their largest single contribution was the $15,799,054 paid by them in taxes on motor fuel. With gasoline taxes in all of the states amounting roundly to $42,000,000 a month, the total tax bill on gasoline for the month was more than $57,000,000.

The July federal gasoline tax collections represented an increase of about $5,000,000 over the June collections and reflected the first full month's income from the additional one-half cent per gallon levied as one of the major sources of income to finance the National Recovery Act. During the fifteen-year life of this additional levy it is estimated that motorists will pay a total of approximately one billion dollars toward the recovery program. Under the act, $400,000,000 is allocated to the states for highway work.

Gasoline provided the second largest single source of revenue to the federal government in July, being exceeded only by the revenue from taxes on cigarettes. The gasoline tax not only yielded $1,000,000 more than the beer tax, but was $3,000,000 greater than the revenue from income taxes.

The $26,570,790 federal taxes paid by motorists during the month included, in addition to gasoline taxes, the following: Lubricating oil, $2,451,639; tires and tubes, $3,623,941; trucks, $471,945; automobiles and motorcycles, $3,743,539; parts and accessories, $480,672.

MAN'S SHORT LEGS LANDS HIM IN JAIL

NORTH SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Behind the bars of the city jail, F. Sueda, Japanese truck gardener, gazes disconsolately at his legs whose amazing shortness was responsible for his incarceration.

Sueda is only four feet tall. His legs are so short he can't comfortably reach the control pedals of his car. Consequently the state refused to grant him a driver's license.

The other day, he was apprehended by a state highway patrolman. Because he had granted three suspended sentences on the same charge before, the magistrate concluded it was time to act. He sent the gardener to jail for ten days.

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "Since God is All, there is no room for His unlikeness. 'I Always Market Here'

Of course, Mrs. Brown always markets here. She's a typical modern housewife . . . smart thrifty, quality-conscious and with a genuine pride in her table. She shopped around, of course, before she decided to buy here. But by comparing our prices and quality with others, there was no alternative but to shop here—because her food budget goes farther here.

TRY IT YOURSELF AND NOTICE THE DIFFERENCE. YOU SAVE WHEN YOU BUY HERE.

NEW BUILDINGS ARE PLANNED FOR NEXT YEAR'S STATE FAIR

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 28—(UP)—An imposing array of new buildings will be ready for visitors at the California state fair next year if the $1,215,000 building program approved by the board of directors and Finance Director Rolland A. Vandegrift is carried out.

Chief among the additions proposed would be a $450,000 coliseum in which to stage the horse show, one of the annual fair's outstanding attractions. The present arena proved inadequate to care for the crowds attending the classic events this year.

Other proposed structures include: A host building, $200,000; educational building, $170,000; 4-H club building, $170,000; Future Farmers building, $225,000. The construction program hinges on funds to be received from the federal government under the NRA act.
